A Message from the Director

In January 2020 we looked forward to celebrating Ocean County Library’s 95th anniversary year. Little did we know that two months later we would face one of the greatest challenges in the history of our library, our county, and our country—the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. Our county library system initially closed at the end of March for two-weeks, along with all libraries in the state of New Jersey, as per executive order of the Governor. We re-opened to the public again in July following the lifting of the executive order.

Ocean County Library met the challenges of COVID-19 with unique solutions, preserving the health and safety of its employees, patrons, and visitors, and enhancing its role as a reliable, vital community resource during a time of crisis. This annual report tells that story.

I would like to thank the Ocean County Library’s Management Team, our union leaders, and all our library supervisors and staff for working together as a team to bring our services to the public in innovative ways when our doors were closed, and for developing the plan to reopen our doors to the public in a safe and responsible manner.

Our Ocean County Library Commission was invaluable in supporting, shaping and approving reopening plans for all 21 branches. I would like to thank Library Commission Chair Ruthanne Scaturro for her guidance and support this year.

The guidance of our Ocean County Administration and partnerships with our county departments were essential to our ability to provide public service to our residents during long and difficult months, and I thank them for their support.

Thank you to the Ocean County Board of Commissioners, and our liaison Joseph H. Vicari who kept the welfare of our staff and library system at the forefront.

As we conclude the historic days of 2020, we will keep in our hearts the memory of our family, friends, neighbors and community members who lost their lives due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

We are grateful for the support of our Ocean County residents and look to the future with hope that by working together we can make our community a better place.

– Susan Quinn
Ocean County Library Director

Welcome

“As Chair of the Library Commission, I could not be prouder of the employees who adapted digital technology for development of original programs and expanded online resources, keeping people engaged with the system and connected to each other.

The Library system’s well-organized reopening process and its adherence to safety measures illustrate the legacy of care that has earned it a place of trust and honor in our communities.”

– Ruthanne Scaturro
Ocean County Library Commission Chair

“The Ocean County Library’s ability to meet the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020 is a shining example of public service and commitment. As a lifelong educator and County Liaison to the Library system, I greatly admire the imagination from staffers in offering enlightenment, entertainment, and empowerment. We can be sure the strides taken by the Ocean County Library in 2020 will carry its role as a community partner and leader far into the future.”

– Joseph H. Vicari
Ocean County Library Commission Liaison

Commissioner Joseph H. Vicari has served as a member of the Ocean County Board of Chosen Commissioners since 1981 and has served as Library Liaison since 2004.
Commissioners and Management Team

The governing body for the Ocean County Library is the seven-member Ocean County Library Commission. Commissioners are unpaid volunteers, appointed for 5-years, who are responsible for the oversight of Library funds, property, and equipment, as well as determining the policies and rules governing Library services in promotion of the Library’s interests.

Office of the Director

The Ocean County Library Commission adjusted to rapid changes during the COVID-19 pandemic which includes maintaining a virtual meeting schedule until the resumption of meetings in the Toms River Branch. The Commission lent an invaluable hand in supporting, shaping and approving reopening plans for all 21 branches.

Human Resources

“The work of Human Resources took on new dimensions in 2020. Regardless of conditions imposed by COVID-19, service to Ocean County Library employees continued without interruption. In addition, HR staffers disseminated health-related governmental directives and instructions, informed workers of test clinics, and maintained related records. We are proud to have assisted the Ocean County Clerk’s office in recruiting employees for support roles during the November general election balloting process, and eased workers’ transitions to and from their Library roles. All in all, it was a year of professional and personal challenge and growth.”

– Jennifer Dodderer
Personnel Director, Human Resources

Ocean County Library met the challenges of COVID-19 with unique solutions, preserving the health and safety of its patrons and visitors and enhancing its role as a reliable, vital community resource. Using technology efficiently and creatively, the Ocean County Library continues to evolve with the times – beacons of information and social relevance that reach people wherever they are, underscoring the mission of ‘connecting people, building community, transforming lives’ during our 95th anniversary year.
System Coordinators

“As System Coordinators we collaborated to create comprehensive guidelines on virtual programming for our patrons. Microsoft Teams was instrumental to create a space where all staff could meet. We were also able to reinvent Microsoft Teams as a platform to conduct virtual programs.

“We are very proud and appreciative of the staff and their ability to adapt.”

We helped the branches put their ideas into action and provided guidance and support in those endeavors. Creativity was encouraged in trying new things and learning how to move forward with this new way of programming. We continue to adapt, revise, and expand system programming as our circumstances continue to change. We are very proud and appreciative of the staff and their ability to adapt and their eagerness to maintain programming excellence for our patrons.”

– System Coordinators

Branch Services

“During the middle of the year, when COVID-19 circumstances prevented on-site Library patronage, the Branch Services team ensured that staff kept their skills sharp through continuing informative, professional development training sessions. Our staff provided valuable feedback for strategic planning. The team also provided online customer services such as digital Library cards, materials, book lists, COVID-19 related resources, Chat/Text integrated inquiry service, and Concierge Readers Advisory. Additionally, the team provided a great number of web-based activities to engage patrons, including multiple reading challenges and a wide variety of virtual programs, such as our summer reading program and student-oriented Service and Achievement in the Library (S.A.I.L) activities.”

– Branch Services
“The migration of our SharePoint intranet into the Microsoft 365 Cloud and the addition of Polaris LEAP in 2019, placed us in a good position for adapting to the extended closure of our buildings due to the pandemic. Our pre-COVID-19 plans for 2020 were to introduce Microsoft Teams as a collaboration platform to allow our staff to work together among our 21 locations. The closure required us to pivot and roll out the platform in a matter of weeks to keep Library operations moving. The Technology team aims to meet the growing needs of virtual programming and provide new products and platforms that enable Library staff to deliver the exemplary service that our customers expect.”

– Technology Team

Wifi Hotspot and Chromebook Lending Program

The increase in popularity of the Library’s online resources and virtual programs in 2020, due in large part to pandemic-related quarantining, accelerated the pace of our Wi-Fi Hotspot and Chromebook lending project, which will be unveiled in 2021. According to the U.S. Census American Community Survey 2014-2018, 18.7% of Ocean County residents have no Internet access, and 12.2% have no home computer. The project provides both components, plus technical support, for patrons. Thanks to a generous $10,000 donation from the Ocean County Library Foundation, the project will make 75 Chromebooks and 150 hotspots available to help our customers engage in meaningful activities, achieve educational goals, seek employment, and connect with loved ones.

“Collaboration among County entities is always a consideration in the event of emergency situations. The pandemic brought that potential into full focus, and the employees in each department responded impressively. The Library continues to demonstrate the teamwork that’s needed to endure a crisis of any kind.”

– Carl Block
Ocean County Administrator

Finance

“When the going gets tough, the tough get going! The Ocean County Library Finance team is the hardest working, most dedicated and dependable group of amazing people with whom I have ever had the pleasure to work. They are quick to adapt and simply unstoppable regardless of even the most unexpected obstacles. Every day I am reminded of how truly fortunate our organization is to have the Ocean County Library Finance team work so seamlessly behind the scenes to maintain all financial operations.”

– Jennifer Woodman
Budget Officer

Training Department

“2020, an unprecedented year filled with uncertainties, became a year for rethinking in the Training Department. As in-person trainings were cancelled, we began to redirect our energy to accommodate and anticipate the needs of staff in an exclusively virtual format. In a global pandemic, wellness, safety, and security were of the upmost importance. But we also recognized the need for communication, interpersonal skills, leadership and management skills, as we learned how to be socially distant, but closely connected. 2020 was fraught with adversity, change, and uncertainty, but through it all, Ocean County Library staff were developing, growing, and learning.”

“Remote Circulation Team
Virtual Library Cards created in 2020: 4,256

“The Remote Circulation Team used effective communication as we worked collaboratively and interdepartmentally to represent the best interests of the entire system by providing staff with updated policies, procedures, and services that would ensure an exceptional customer service experience for our patrons and staff.”

– Remote Circulation Team

“We’re indebted to the Ocean County Library administrators and staffers for their valuable roles in our longstanding partnership to provide residents with access to information about healthcare. Their dependability provided critical support in our efforts to equip residents with up-to-date details in the rapidly-changing conditions surrounding COVID-19.”

– Dan Regenye
Public Health Coordinator, Health Officer,
Ocean County Health Department

"As the spread of COVID-19 prompted the closure of brick-and-mortar buildings, we spread the word that Ocean County Library was as accessible as ever through its mastery of technology. Instead of visiting the nearest branch for resources, information, services, and the newest titles, people quickly ventured to our website and social media platforms. ‘OCL: Wherever You Need To Be’ became our catchphrase.

Colleagues supplemented our efforts by highlighting each new virtual program, video series, contest, resource addition, and service expansion. Quarantine did not stop us from working as a team and collaborating with all departments and branches. We experienced a synergy with our colleagues that enhanced our perspectives and our work routines in ways that we can carry far into the future."

– Kathleen Sanchez
Librarian 4, Public Relations

"Reopening the Library to the public in the safest way possible was one of the top priorities for our organization, and use of proper signage played a vital role in the reopening efforts. It was important to create a signage campaign where the visuals would be easily recognizable and understood, for the safety of our patrons and staff. Colors, graphics, designs, and fonts were taken into consideration to not only create a new, identifiable style for the COVID-19 signage, but to also be CDC compliant, positive in tone, and maintain Ocean County Library brand standards. While working from home, I collaborated with my superiors to develop the suite of signs used throughout the 21 branches, and continually adjusted and updated as the situation changed. I am proud to have contributed via the Printing & Graphics Department during this monumental time in our organization’s history."

– Carly-Jean Booker
Graphic Artist 3, Printing and Graphics

"In order to meet the needs of the communities we serve during challenging times, the Collections Department increased the purchase of digital materials and digital checkout limits to ensure our customers had access to the resources they needed and wanted while the physical Library was closed. We also continued to select physical materials to be delivered once we reopened."

– Christi Aldellizzi
Librarian 4, Collections Supervisor

Senior Services
Homebound and Volunteer Services

“Homebound and Volunteer Services (HBVS) has been working hard to ensure that our patrons continue to have access to Library materials as safely as possible. Throughout the pandemic, HBVS staff assisted patrons who were ready to take the leap to digital products by supporting them over the phone. Out of an abundance of caution for our volunteers and customers, our Home Borrowers Program adapted to provide a mailing service, until it is safe for volunteers to visit our customers’ homes.

In order to continue providing a variety of materials to Ocean County Nursing and Life-Care Centers, we’ve implemented a contactless door-side pickup program for our facilities. We continue to monitor the safety procedures for our facilities, as well as the standards set by the Ocean County Library, to ensure exceptional service while adapting to an ever-changing situation.”

– Cait Byrnes
Coordinator of Volunteers, Homebound & Volunteer Services

Facilities

“When the Ocean County Library closed during the COVID-19 pandemic, its 21 branches were quiet on the outside. Inside, the Facilities team was busy, cleaning, sanitizing, and installing plexiglass shields on the circulation desks and other common interactive areas.

These areas varied in type and dimension, which required specific, individual plans to be made for each. Our team also ensured the protection of staff at all branches with personal protective equipment and, where possible, touchless entry/exit systems. In overcoming these challenges, Facilities created a blueprint for the future.”

– Joe Cahill
Maintenance Supervisor

“The pandemic-driven need for safe social distancing is a serious concern in Ocean County, which is home to more senior residents than any other county in New Jersey. The Ocean County Library is instrumental in our delivery of information to residents virtually. The Library’s cooperation in presenting our webinar about vital details for those with Alzheimer’s and other dementias is the start of a new, essential and lasting partnership.”

– Maria LaFace
Director, Ocean County Senior Services

“This is a pleasure and an honor to be part of the team that’s helping the Library maintain a safe and welcoming atmosphere. Building and installing transparent partitions is our visible way of assuring customers that their well-being is our priority.”

– Bill Armstrong
Assistant Supervising Maintenance Repairer

“Secure voting boxes were placed outside of our Library locations.

Toms River’s Mancini hall in use during the 2020 election.

“When it became clear that the coronavirus pandemic would drastically change voting methods for the 2020 general election, we turned to the Ocean County Library for the extra space and personnel that we needed to function efficiently and reliably. The cooperation between our offices allowed County residents to be assured of the accuracy they expect in this extremely important civic process.”

– Scott Colabella
Ocean County Clerk
New Varieties of Programming

“It was very fulfilling for me to remain in contact with our school officials, enhance our support and services for them, and use my newfound knowledge to help them initiate virtual programming. Taking part in the launch of virtual programming was very exciting. Virtual programming and “Take & Make” kits inspired our imaginations. Our patrons made it a habit to visit their branches for the next project.”

– Donna Majchrzak
Librarian 2

Transitioning to Virtual Learning

“I want to thank the Ocean County Library for helping keep teachers and libraries connected through our unexpected closure and transition to virtual learning. The eNewsletters and social media posts kept my digital classroom materials fresh, educational, and entertaining for my students.”

– Jennifer C.
Berkeley School District

Virtual Programming

The 2020 coronavirus pandemic thrust virtual programming into the forefront of the Library’s ability to continue “connecting people…building community…transforming lives.” Staff developed a wellspring of ideas and used a continually growing base of social media platforms to bring them to life. New virtual programs, initiatives, and resources that symbolize the Library’s broadening customer base include:

• One Book OCL: The Library’s free, private online forum for book discussions and networking, available to members and non-members alike.

• Virtual Teen Volunteering: The Library modified its S.A.I.L. program to allow youths age 12-17 to build their resumes and community service hours online. 6,489 teens took part in overseeing the Library’s Beanstack reading challenges, and they read and critiqued new published works aimed at young adults.

• YouTube: OCL’s YouTube channel grew exponentially in 2020 with over 31,000 video views. It now houses well over 300 original videos, created by staff, to instruct, enlighten and entertain.

• Concierge Service: Virtual, personalized recommendations selected from the Ocean County Library’s millions of materials available in a variety of formats. Library staff work to find the best materials for you based on your preferences.

• Additions to the Collection: Virtual resources with new and exciting services like:
  o Live chess tutoring with brainfuse.
  o World Book eBooks enhance learning for grades K through 12 with more than 2,500 illustrated titles in multiple curriculum areas and reading levels.
  o Freegal® catalog contains more than 16 million songs, more than a million albums, more than 75,000 music videos and more than nine-thousand audio books from 100 countries, released through Sony Music Entertainment.
The 2020 U.S. Census

Ocean County Library received grant funding from the New Jersey Department of State to support efforts to achieve a complete count for Census 2020. Outreach goals included: providing outreach and publicity, educating and motivating individuals to complete their Census questionnaires, and providing effective communication and information on Census 2020 to the communities and residents of Ocean County.

Prior to COVID-19 and the closure of the Library, branches held job fairs for recruiting and training Census workers, as well as informational programs for the public on the importance of the Census and the benefits of a complete count of residents. Programs included: “Census Business Builder,” “You Count: Census 2020,” and “The U.S. Census: Then and Now.” Information Services maintained a Census Resource page for staff and the Ocean County Library website featured a prominent link for definitive Census information, which resulted in 1,624 page views. Promotional materials were distributed to all branches, and Census slides were prominently displayed on branch TV screens.

In-person programs and outreaches ceased with the Library’s closure on March 15 due to the pandemic. During this time, the Library ramped up the use of social media and sent press releases in English and Spanish to its media partners. Reference staff were able to field Census-related questions via ChatText.

Upon re-opening, 19 laptops purchased with grant funds were made available for public use. Staff greeters, mindful of social distancing and the requirement to wear masks, informed customers of COVID-19 protocols and reminded them of the Census deadlines and/or directed them to the laptops. Census representatives staffed tables outside several Library branches throughout September and October as a final push.

FanNation

“For the sixth annual “FanNation: The Geekstravaganza” we had to turn our all day in-person event into a week-long virtual event. We took many of our traditional FanNation programs and put a virtual spin on them—creating online escape rooms, scavenger hunts, crafting demos and more! We were even able to host our most popular event–our annual cosplay contest–by allowing our patrons to vote on their favorite cosplayer through an online poll. We featured all FanNation programming on our various social media platforms, which allowed patrons to participate in as many of the events as they wanted.”

Virtual Author Visit

“In advance of my virtual author visit, the Ocean County Library staff—particularly Cecilia Pasqualicchio—were incredibly patient, organized, and helpful. They created a safe space for my event, and I felt so welcomed by all. Libraries are becoming more and more essential every day, bringing people together for enriching events even when we are all stuck in our separate homes. I am so grateful to the Ocean County Library for connecting me with their patrons and for carrying on the grand tradition of libraries adapting to tirelessly serve their communities, no matter the circumstance.”

Our staff brought out the true meaning of public service during the coronavirus pandemic. Every interaction with patrons and fellow staff members became an object lesson in the principles and ideals that guide the Library’s mission. Their adaptability and professionalism allowed them to support the Ocean County Board of Elections during the 2020 General Election, helping to maintain its standards of accuracy and efficiency.

Branch Moments

The staff of the Tuckerton Branch worked together to provide 30 unique Take & Make programs from September through December, half for children and half for adult. Many patrons engaged with the Library in new ways due to the projects.

One of the nicest memories of 2020 was Peto’s Palette Pals, a collaboration between the John F. Peto Museum and the Island Heights Branch. The Library hosted this educational art series for all twelve of the sessions offered. It was enormously popular with parents and children. Seeing the children learn about and create their own art was inspiring.*

In December, the Berkeley Branch held a multigenerational gingerbread house contest. Projects were displayed in the Library and over 250 votes were cast.

The WareTown Branch hosted a Coffee with a Cop program every month with regular high attendance. Members of the community got the opportunity to connect with locate police force for coffee, conversation, and questions.*

The last program at the Barnegat Branch, prior to closing due to the COVID-19 pandemic, was a Teen Paint Party. It was held to celebrate both Youth Art Month and Women’s History Month. Under the tutelage of local artist, Marty Mayo, teens painted portraits of author Toni Morrison.*

For 2020, we were most proud of teamwork the Upper Shores Branch & Bay Head Reading Center staff exemplified. They showed resilience and flexibility during these trying time to ensure the branches were running as smooth and possible.

The Lakewood Branch continued its partnership with St. Francis Community Center and hosted 14 ESL classes per week until our COVID-19 closure. Teachers, students and staff are looking forward to some return to normalcy and being able to attend classes in person at the branch again.*

The Friends of the Little Egg Harbor Branch sponsored an off-site performance of The Underground Railroad by Storyteller Michelle Washington Wilson. The Black History Month event was performed at the George J. Mitchell Community - Aftercare - School.*

The Long Beach Island Branch explored Patagonia: A Journey to the End of the World through tastes of the region, food samples and information provided by Rafael Morillo from MKT Eatery.*

The Beachwood Branch is proud of how our community adjusted to the necessary changes during 2020. Our customers expressed gratitude when the Branch reopened and embraced our Take & Make kits and other virtual Library services.

Virtual viewers attended Dyslexia Tips that Work. The Lacey Branch Librarians collaborated with Liz Barnes of Decoding Dyslexia NJ and Genny Schwarzberg, a learning disabilities specialist.

* Branch programming occurred prior to mandated system closure.
Joseph H. Vicari Sensory Space

The Joseph H. Vicari Sensory Space, in the Ocean County Library Toms River Branch, exponentially expands the Library’s mission of “connecting people...building community...transforming lives.”

“The Ocean County Library is a leader in recognizing a need and addressing it in an effort to make sure the Library is a place that everyone can visit,” Ocean County Commissioner Joseph Vicari said. “There is a true sense of community that exists at all of our branches.”

“The goal of the sensory space is to provide an area for children and adults with a variety of disabilities including autism spectrum disorders,” said Ocean County Library Director Susan Quinn.

“The Library also provides resources that are designed to assist both the individual with autism and his or her caregivers during these challenging times,” Quinn said.

The Library’s Autism Resources Fair, traditionally held each April, inspired the concept.

“The space is designed to develop the senses, encourage communication and social interactions, relieve stress and anxiety, and promote calmness and well-being. It sends a positive message to people with varying degrees of sensory processing who might feel inhibited in social environments,” said Sara Siegler, Assistant Library Director.

Information Services Librarian and Chair, Ocean County Library Autism Resources Fair

Key individuals in development of the space include: Joseph H. Vicari, Library Liaison, Ocean County Board of Commissioners, Ruthanne Scaturro, Chair, Ocean County Library Commission, Library Commissioner Susan Hutler, past chair Ocean County Library Commission, The Ocean County Library Commission, Library Director Susan Quinn; Assistant Library Director Sara Siegler; Facilities Manager Joe Cahill; Assistant Facilities Managers Michael Erickson and Barry DePaul; Toms River Branch Chief Librarian Rachel Lavoie-Dohn; Jackson Branch Librarian 2 Wendi Smolowitz, Chair of the Library’s Autism Resources Committee; and Administrative Clerk Kelly Nichols.

The project architect was Phil Reina, Yezzi Associates, LLC, of Toms River, in consultation with Principal and Executive Director Massimo Yezzi. Reina’s previous experience in autism-sensitive design includes the Search Day School, Ocean Township, NJ.

“The coronavirus has had drastic effects upon people with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and their caregivers. The disruption in routines was extremely difficult for individuals with ASD. Many caregivers also found themselves thrust into the roles of their children’s teacher and therapists – experiences that presented their own challenges. Library staff on the Autism Resources committee curated resources designed to assist both the individual with autism, and his or her caregivers, by creating a resource center that is available 24/7 on the library’s website.”

Information Services Librarian and Chair, Ocean County Library Autism Resources Fair
When the Ocean County Library first began in 1925, Ocean County was home to nearly 30,000 individuals and families. The Library, in the Lonan building on the grounds of the County Courthouse, was open one day a week while a panel truck ferried literature to post offices, stores, and front porches throughout the county. The Library was a strong thread that connected the citizens of New Jersey’s largest county.

Today, Ocean County’s population has grown to just about 600,000, becoming a richly diverse community that welcomes new residents every day.

The Ocean County Library is now the largest Library system in New Jersey, continuing to be a strong thread for families, a neighborhood gathering spot, an institution of learning, a community leader, a support system for daily living, and a haven in which visitors are always welcome.

Our residents, as part of the Ocean County Library family, are the reason that we remain a focal point for people from all walks of life from preschoolers to seniors. Our residents are what keeps the Ocean County Library at the center of its community and the reason we have had 95 strong years and will continue to succeed and grow together.
Foundation and Friends

Conditions that prevailed in 2020 allowed the Ocean County Library Foundation to devote time and energy to long-range planning, with an eye toward an eventual return to live events.

The Foundation undertakes a variety of fundraising and grant writing activities, using our skills at raising private and public funds to provide support for non-traditional Library programs and services not covered by tax dollars or budget. In 2020 the Ocean County Library Foundation was awarded the OceanFirst Foundation Arts & Cultural Grant.

The Ocean County Library Foundation is a 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization that aims to enhance the services and opportunities offered to all Ocean County Library users. We support and believe in the Ocean County Library’s mission of “Connecting People, Building Community, and Transforming Lives.”

Ocean County Library Friends have continued to stay connected by holding group meetings virtually. They have ongoing communication with their branches to stay abreast of Library news. All Friends groups have been focusing on new memberships and renewals. As always, Friends are Library users whether by visiting the branch, using digital resources, or attending virtual programs. They always provide unwavering support and are ready and eager to resume their role as Ocean County Library’s greatest champions.

Despite all the obstacles and uncertainties of 2020, you never wavered in your job of serving the public with excellence and dedication. Through your work you brought information, comfort, joy and happiness to our community in crisis. Never underestimate the magnitude and importance of what you have done this year. This year may have been historic, but then again so were you.

Thank you for all you do.

“The Ocean County Library is a beautiful community based resource that, as a single mother, has become a staple in my young sons life. At an early age, my son and I utilized the Library (pre-pandemic) for their children’s programs, play and story time as well as a way to get out of the house while still utilizing my very tight budget. As my son grew, his involvement with the Ocean County Library system grew as well. We went from picture books, to young reader books, from play time to doing the Take & Makes, and from a cautionary uncertainty, to a place of comfort and routine. I am so appreciative of the Ocean County Library system, their abundant resources and smiling staff.”
